

DO YOU KNOW

By ANNA VIVIENNE

When we say hotel, we will immediately think of it as a commercial establishment that provides lodging, food and other services in to the public. We also understand that it is an important industry especially to those attracting a large tourist trade.

There are however categories of such establishments. There is the transient hotel which is usually located within city boundaries and caters to people travelling for business and pleasure.

Then there are the motels which may cater to the same group of persons, but are often situated near or along major highways. Both hotels and motels provide numerous amenities in addition to sleeping accommodations, including maid service, radio and television, parking space, recreational facilities, food and beverage services. As for Resort hotels, they are usually located at the seaside or mountain areas. They cater to tourists and vacationers. Resorts provide all hotel services plus recreational and athletic activities.

The scenario in Sabah is the same and to add to the availability of hotel accommodations here, the Homestay Programme came into being. Homestay is usually for tourists who wish to experience the day to day life, culture and tradition of their host countries. Homestay is usually available in suburban and rural areas.

This is new to some of us, but if we are to think long and hard, we will remember that our homes have served as accommodations to travellers in the olden days. They may not have paid us with money then, paying in kind instead, such as rice and or chicken but they stayed with us as guests before continuing their journey. This is a form of homestay, although our lifestyle was the similar and they did actually delve into their hosts' way of life then.

This was also practised in the west, for quite a long time. In fact, inns which served travellers since ancient times were actually part of the owner's house. Be that as it may, hotels can be classified according to location, facilities and services offered, as well as clientele served.
