Get a grand wedding party at Rasa Ria

“I believe we have achieved this. This is because we have the right facilities to cater to our clients. We have the beautiful wedding pavilion for them to utilise. Yes, it is a little bit bare when there is no ceremony going on there but once we decorate it, well, you will be surprised.” – Sandra Lee

Many couples want to tie the knot during this month of May. This is because of the school holidays and various holidays such as the Harvest Festival Celebration.

To actually enjoy a grand wedding without the headache of planning, ask the Shangri-La Rasa Ria Resort in Tuaran to organise one for you.

According to the wedding planner, Sandra Lee (pictured), she and her team can arrange the perfect wedding for their clients.

“When we say perfect wedding, it means it is the right location, with the right ambience and the right settings for the couple. Perfect is actually achieved when the wedding is tailored to suit their needs,” she says.

“I believe we have achieved this. This is because we have the right facilities to cater to our clients. We have the beautiful wedding pavilion for them to utilise. Yes, it is a little bit bare when there is no ceremony going on there but once we decorate it, well, you will be surprised.”

“If they want a white arch with white roses, peppered with red buds, let’s say, we will do it. If they want something simple and more intimate, we can do that too.”

“We have already arranged a unique wedding successfully. It was a Malay wedding for a Japanese couple. We help them dress in traditional Malay wedding attire and they said their vows in Malay. That was very interesting and exciting for us and for them.”

“Actually we can do almost anything our clients demand, given a little time. We can create a wedding with a Kadazan-Dusun theme, Malay theme, Chinese theme...you name it, we can do it,” Lee says.

Lee has reason to be confident about her abilities as a wedding planner—she has organised similar functions before, the latest being two recent society weddings that she pulled off quite nicely.

In Rasa Ria, there are two packages you can choose from: the “Eternal Love” package includes the exclusive use of wedding pavilion, services of on-site wedding planner, basic flower arch, bouquet and corsage for bride and groom, and a bottle of champagne. The couple will also have the benefit of photography services inclusive of 36 prints, a photo album, film negatives and a compact disc.

The other conventional package is “Rasa Ria Romance”. This includes the exclusive use of the pavilion, services of an on-site wedding planner, deluxe wedding set up and decorations, entry to pavilion by decorated buggy and live music by singers. They will also be accorded bouquet and corsages, a bottle of champagne, professional photography services including five rolls of 36 prints with photo album, film negatives and CD-ROM, a three-tier photo frame and a “Heaven and Earth” spa treatment for two.

These two packages are however flexible and you can talk to Sandra about additional services or other themes.

“Yes, we can draw up additional activities for our clients. They just have to tell us what they want and we will deliver it to them,” she says.

So if you are thinking of saying “I do” at Rasa Ria’s wedding pavilion, with the blazing hues of a sunset or the gentle sounds of waves lapping the shore in the morning, contact Sandra Lee and get her to arrange the perfect wedding for you.
