Water World Theme Park

By Rekha Bhabra

In recent times there seems to be a substantial shift away from good old fashioned fun; not many families nowadays do the day at the beach, picnics, or engage in activities that involve the entire family. Those of you that have invested time, put in the effort and listened to the feedback from our kids it is pretty conclusive that there is no substitute for good old fashioned fun.

A promise to take my pre-teenage son to Water World Theme Park is enough to drive him giddy with anticipation; it's a place he knows well. The short fifteen minute drive to Tun Fuad Park in Bukit Padang sees him on his best behaviour, sitting up straight, humming familiar tunes in the back seat; catch his eye and a big bright smile breaks through; he knows it's going to be a day of fun, fun, fun.

The park itself is the first of its kind in Sabah. The adult pool is large enough for a game of water basketball while the younger ones can have loads of action packed excitement in the kiddie's pool which consists of miniature slides and water cannons.

For the young and the young at heart, water and the great outdoors equals a fantastic day, the park is designed to give that and a whole lot more. Some of the main attractions would definitely be the water slides, four of the best water slides all in one location. For an adrenaline packed ride, try the Torpedo Ripper Slide, to that add the Loopy Pipeline Plunge and the toddler play pool and there's something for everyone. Expect an action packed day filled with good old fashioned fun.

Care, comfort, safety and cleanliness are the core values of this parks management, the swimming pool is vacuumed each day and a dedicated, friendly and well trained crew work hard each day to ensure that the quality of water is maintained to the highest level.
