Bonding at Nexus...

By Anna Vivienne

Nexus Resort Karambunai will figure much in the memories of young Japanese couple Tomoko Saito and Taro Shibamura for the rest of their life, as this was where they exchanged vows as husband and wife.

Their unforgettable and joyous wedding ceremony was held at the resort's luxurious Royal Villa and witnessed by immediate family members as well as the resort's staff.

Tomoko and Taro first met while they were posted in Hong Kong a couple of years ago. It was a chance introduction by a friend that went very well from initial hellos and blossomed into a romance that would be celebrated half a world away at this beach resort in Sabah, Malaysia's Borneo.

Tomoko looked stunning in her simple yet elegant white princess-style wedding gown. The lace-embroidered strapless bodice and floor-length silk taffeta skirt with lace-and-ruffles hem accentuated the bride's slim outline and fair complexion. A lace-trimmed tulle veil, diamante tiara, pearl necklace and fresh rose bouquet completed her beautiful bridal ensemble. Dashing groom Taro cut an equally attractive figure in his grey silk tie, ivory tuxedo and boyish long hair.

A cake-cutting ceremony and private dinner for the wedding entourage followed after the marriage blessings. Tomoko and Taro will be staying on at the resort for a few weeks on their honeymoon before returning to Japan for their current postings.
