

Garama River Cruise

Cheeky long-tailed macaques, rare silver leaf monkeys and handsome water buffaloes roam in the mangrove forests and the plains along the Garama River. Birdwatchers delight in catching sight of birds like the gold-whiskered barbets, blue-eared kingfishers and olive-winged bulbuls perched in the trees. Even the calm waters are alive with crocodiles that occasionally peep above the murky water. The show doesn't stop there. After the sun sets, the trees magically twinkle with thousands of fireflies.

But the stars of the Garama River are the curious-looking proboscis monkeys that balance on the trees along the river early in the morning and later in the day. The Garama attracts thousands of visitors each year who eagerly climb into boats for a relaxing ride and a chance to catch sight of these fascinating primates on the Garama River Cruise.

The distinctive nose that hangs off the face of the male monkeys gave the monkey the perfect name. In the Malay language these primates are called "Monyet Belanda" or "Dutch Monkeys" because the locals thought they looked like the Dutch colonizers who had big noses! Reaching up to 7 inches in length, the nose plays the main part in creating that resonant call they make to warn enemies. As skillful climbers and competent swimmers the proboscis monkeys live around mangrove swamps and riverine areas, hence river cruises as the vehicle for a visit to their homes.

The Garama River is in the district of Beaufort, a small town 2 hours away from Kota Kinabalu. From Beaufort town it is another 25 kilometres before you reach the starting point of your cruise. Arrange your trip and cruise with a licensed tour operator.
